

Direct Democracy is our “Political” Human Right

Canadians elect their MPs ... for four to five years and during this time period these approximately 300 people do all the deciding while the remaining 30 million Canadians are expected to nod their heads in irrelevant approval or growl in frustrated disagreement. At best this is part-time democracy, at worst it is dictatorship; interspersed with brief moments of spurious democracy (elections), during which the voters can "throw the bums out," elect a new bunch, and then watch powerlessly as history repeats itself.

*Reimar Kroeher
Citizens for Direct Democracy*

We believe in liberal democracy, which is a democracy that worries about the tyranny of the majority, but it is the majority itself that must draw the lines.

*Antonin Scalia
Supreme Court Justice*

Democracy Party of Canada

The Political Party that respects the Wisdom, Fairness
and Generosity of Canadians

